PRESS RELEASE

Karachi - Member National Assembly Khushbakht Shujaat said that Alamgir welfare trust international is doing great job without any show off, or pretentious display. We have to lend our voices to spread their message for the well being of the society.

She was addressing the parents of the needy brides at the gathering assembled by Alamgir Welfare Trust here at Karachi to distribute dowry items for the marriage of their daughters.

In the month of October, Alamgir Welfare Trust Int'l facilitated the wedding of 160 girls by providing them dowry items of Rs. 1.9 Million and cooked food worth Rs. 560 thousand. Khushbakht Shujaat stressed on the need to spread the message of such welfare organizations to every corner of the society. She also advised the parents to perform the duty by arranging marriages of their daughter and to educate them properly to be better future mothers.

She added that she had been witnessing the good work of Alamgir Welfare Trust Int'l for several years including free health care facilities, education assistance and marriages of poor & orphan girls. Haq Parast Member National Assembly appealed to the well off classes of the society to come forward and play their part to enhance the welfare activities of Alamgir Welfare Trust Int'l.

She also prayed the Almighty to bestow His blessing on Pakistan which is really facing hard times. On the occasion, Shakeel Dehelvi Director Public Relations Alamgir Welfare Trust Int'l briefed the guest about the activities of the trust. Rehan Yaseen Director Finance and Shamim Ahmed Chandna General Secretary Alamgir Welfare Trust Int'l also addressed the audience.
